

Disney's Princess Half Marathon Viewing Locations

Instructions: Estimate your runner's anticipated pace per mile and then calculate the time (hours: minutes) that it will take them to reach each mile. Please select only one collection of viewpoints from the routes below. Compare the time it will take you to arrive at a location with the approximate time it will take your runner to reach that mile marker (pace per mile X number of miles=runner's travel time). If your travel time is less than your runner's estimated travel time, then you should be able to look for your runner at that mile marker.

Note: The Spectator Guide is an estimate. Actual times may be affected by runners starting in different waves and corrals. Spectators should leave a wide time window to see their runner. Spectator travel time is based on an average walking pace. Runner travel time is based on the runner crossing the start line. There will be no viewing at the Start line for the Half Marathon. Enjoy the race!
